Guild's Signal.

BY BRET HARTE.

filtret Harte, in the Chicago Tribune, celebrates William Guild, the engineer of the train which, on the 19th of April. slunged into Mendow Brook, on the line of the Stonington and Providence Railroad. It was his custom, as often as he passed als home, to whiatle an "all's well" to his wife. He was found, after the disaster, dead, with his hand on the throttlewaive of his engine ]

Two low whistles, quaint and clear, That was the signal the engineer-That was the eigent that Guild, 'tis said-Gave to his wife at Providence, As through the sleeping town, and thence, Out in the night, On to the light,

Down past the farms, lying white, he sped ! As a husband's greeting, scant, no doubt Yet to the woman looking out, Watching and waiting, no serenade, Love song or midnight roundelay, Said what that whistle seemed to say :

"To my trust true, Eo love to you! Working or wairing, good night !" it said. Brisk young bogmen, tourists fine, Old commuters along the line.

Brakemen and porters glanced shead, Smiled as the signal, sharp, intense, Pierced through the shadows of Providence-"Nothing amiss-Nothing !-- it is Only Gulid calling his wife," they said.

Summer and Winter, the old refrain Rung o'er the billows of ripening grain, Pierced through the budding toughs o'erhead, Flow down the track when the red leaves burned Like living coals from the engine spurned; Fang as it flow : "To our trust true,

First of all, duty-good night !" it said. And then, one night; it was heard no more From Stonington over Rhode Island shore, And the folk in Providence smiled and said, As they turned in their beds, "The engineer Has once forgotien his midnight cheer." One only knew,

To his trust true, Guild lay under his engine, dead.

VARIETY.

EXTRAORDINARY .- A gentleman recently arrivel rom London, giving his experience of a New York boarding house, said it was "most 'straordinary; but, by Jove! it seemed to be hash Wednesday every day in the week!"

ALL THROUGH .- " That duck, sir, is a real casvas back," said Jones' landlord at dinner. " Carvas all through, I should think," muttered Jone, as he laid down his knife in despair after trying for the third time to saw through a section of the

THE NATIONAL GAME. - A Connecticut boy, just learning to read, asked his father what Credit Mobilier was. "It's our national game, ny boy," replied the father, who with the shrewlness of a native of the Land of Steady Habis, was looking ahead, "you'll be able to play it when you get big and go to Congress."

Going to Stop .- An Oregon woman wers rubber bustles, but she is going to stop it. The other day she slipped and fell down. She liten that bustle, and it threw her up in the air, and she continued coming down and bouncing up again for more than twenty minutes, and would be bouncing now if somebody hadn't stopped her.

Lost Horses.-A Dutchman, in describing a span of horses which he had lost, said : "Dey was very mooch like, 'specially the off one. One lookt so mooch alike poth I could not tell telder from which; when I went after one I always caught de oder; and I whipped de one most lead, because de oder kicked at me."

DIDN'T ASK ANY MORE FOOL QUESTIONS.-In the progress of a trial in the Circuit Court of Ann Arbor, Mich., the other day, the witness, Mrs. Rapalje, interrupted the questions of the cross-examining counsel, Mr. Joslyn, of Ypsilanti, by coolly drawing from her muff a loaded revolver and remarking: "One more insulting question and I'll drop you where you sand.

The examination was pursued no further. A story is told of a French gentleman, who, having lost the bulk of his property through the rascality of friends in whom he trusted, growned it all by the loss of his mental balance, and for the remainder of his days found his only delight in riding in omnibuses and passing fares from passengers to the driver, taking care when change was returned to add to it a son or two out of his own pocket, and watch the effect on the receiver. In nine cases out of ten, as the story goes, the passenger, counting over his change and finding, as he supposed, that the driver had cheated himself, would look bewildered for a moment, and then pocket the change with a quiet chuckle. The special delight of the lunatic was to satisfy himself in this way that nine-tenths of his fellow-men were dishonest, if they only had the oppor-

A FISH STORY .- A clergyman of New York city recently received by express from the country a box, which, when opened, was found to contain a large trout, surrounded with moss. Highly gratified at this token of appreciation from some absent admirer, he determined to feast a few select friends therewith. He sent invitations to a few of his Fifth avenue friends, and there was a joyous gathering around his hospitable board; but, while each took his full share of fish, no one ate more than a mouthful, a circumstance which puzzled him exceedingly until he received a letter from a brother clergyman in the rural districts stating that its author had ob tained the fish two years previously, and had preserved it in alcohol, on account of its monstrous size. Hearing, however, of the Museum of Natural History in the Central Park, he now sent it to his friend, asking him to have it put back into alcohol and presented to the Museum. STREET LIVE IN DANBURY .- Old Mr. Watson, on Nelson street, New York, has got a nice little bill to pay. He sent a man down for a pot of MPORTER AND DEALER IN CLOTH-ING. Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Jewelry, Perfumery, Pocket Cutlery, and every description of Gent's Superior Furnishing Goods. 27 Benkert's Fine Calf Dress Boots, paint and a ladder. The man got the paint, and then went to the lumber yard after a ladder. Then he tied the paint pot to the end of the ladder, and put the ladder on his shoulder. This was a very smart arrangement, and the man himself admired it very much. He started for home this way, and didn't find any trouble the first block, because the people had an impression that a long ladder with a pot of yellow paint dangling on the end of it wasn't exactly the thing to trifle with, so they balanced along on the curb stone, or rubbed up against the buildings. Soon the man saw somebody in a store he knew, and turned around to speak to him, and drove one end of the ladder into a millinery case and knocked the crown out of an eighteen-dollar bonnet. Then he backed off in affright, and knocked down two sewing machine agents with the other end. Then he started to turn around, and an old gentleman who was desperately endeavoring to pull his wife out of danger, saw the peril, and shouted out: "Hi, there!" But it was too late. The pot struck against an awning post, tipped to one side, and the entire contents went over the aged couple. This so startled the man that he whirled completely around smashing in an entire store front, frightening a milk-man's team, and knocking over some thirteen persons who were actively dodging about to get out of the way. Then he dropped the ladder and fled into the country, shouting " murder " and " fire " at every jump. A regular ordained painter is now engaged on Mr. Watson's house.

RIDGE HOUSE! A RETREAT FOR INVALIDS.

THE CLIMATE OF THESE ISLANDS pecially favorably known. The district of Kona, on the lee side of Hawaii, has long been famed as a place of resort for those afflicted with affections of the lungs. Not a few cases have been known of persons who had been given over as sure to die, by their physicians in California, after a few months residence in the pure, mild air of Kona, recovering robost health and taking a new lease of life.

The undersigned, at his commodious house at Kanwalon, South Kona, is prepared to furnish good accommodations to boarders at the low rate of $5 per week; including good saddle
